

TWO TYPES OF SLA IN CRM

1. STAGE SLA

How long an opportunity can stay in a single stage.
If overdue, the stage turns RED.

2. MILESTONE SLA

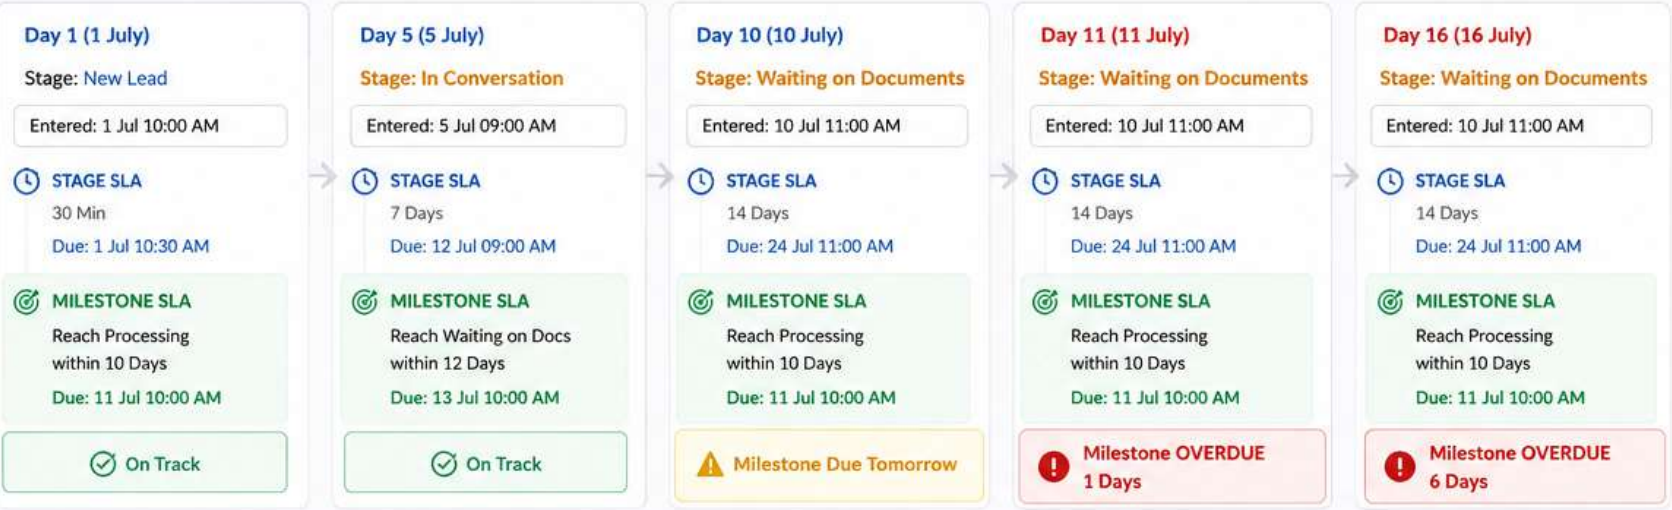

How long it should take to reach a specific stage (milestone) from the start stage.
If overdue, the milestone turns RED.

EXAMPLE PIPELINE (Mortgage)

HOW IT WORKS – EXAMPLE

Lead created on 1 July

HOW IT LOOKS ON LEAD CARD

John Smith New Lead On Track

Stage Due (Stage SLA)
Today 10:30 AM (30 mins left)

Milestone: Processing (10 Days)
Due 11 Jul (3 days left)

Priya Sharma Waiting on Documents Due Today

Stage Due (Stage SLA)
Today 11:00 AM (Due Today)

Milestone: Processing (10 Days)
Due 11 Jul (Due Today)

Michael Lee Waiting on Documents Overdue

Stage Due (Stage SLA)
2 days overdue (Due 14 Jul)

Milestone: Processing (10 Days)
1 day overdue (Due 11 Jul)

Sarah Jones In Conversation Milestone Overdue

Stage Due (Stage SLA)
5 days left (Due 23 Jul)

Milestone: Waiting on Docs (12 Days)
3 days overdue (Due 13 Jul)

WHERE ADMIN SETS SLA?

Settings > Pipeline > Mortgage Pipeline

A. Stage SLA (Time in each stage)

Stage	SLA (Duration)
1. New Lead	30 Minutes
2. Appointment Booked	2 Days
3. In Conversation	7 Days
4. Waiting on Documents	14 Days
5. Documents Received	2 Days
6. Processing	21 Days
7. Settled	No SLA
Lost	No SLA

B. Milestone SLA (From start stage)

Start Stage	Target Stage (Milestone)	Duration
New Lead	Appointment Booked	1 Day
New Lead	In Conversation	5 Days
New Lead	Waiting on Documents	12 Days
New Lead	Processing	10 Days
New Lead	Settled	60 Days

+ Add Milestone

STATUS LEGEND

- On Track – Ahead of due date
- Due Today – Due within 24 hours
- At Risk – Due within 1 day
- Overdue – Due date passed